

Crossing Borders Journalism Workshop

Developing Media Skills for Dialogue

in Jerusalem 1 – 4 November 2007

Goals and Objectives: With this programme Crossing Borders, together with its cooperating partners, aims at creating a meaningful dialogue to build mutual trust and understanding. The objective is to enable journalists and media workers to contribute fully to the dialogue between cultures in the EuroMed region by providing a stimulating learning space and relevant media skills for young journalists. Furthermore it is to enhance contact and networking among Euro-Med journalists.

Target group: The participants are selected young fe/male journalists from Israel, Palestine, Denmark and Germany. The participants represent a broad spectrum of media: print, radio and television. With their various skills and cultural backgrounds, the participants come from a wide diversity of institutions in Palestine, Israel, Germany and Denmark.

The activities focus on culture-, gender- and conflict-sensitive media issues and cooperation skills.
