

The A-Z of German Media Development Cooperation

“Free and independent media are essential for the development of liberal democracies. Free and independent media ensure that all groups of society can participate in public opinion forming. At the same time they demand transparency and accountability from political, social and economic players. This is also of particular importance with regard to poverty reduction and the promotion of sustainable development”.

(From the Mission Statement of “Forum Medien und Entwicklung”, FoME)

This directory, an initiative by “Forum Medien und Entwicklung” (FoME), gives you an overview of the institutions and programmes currently involved in German media development cooperation.

“Forum Medien und Entwicklung” (Forum Media and Development) brings together German speaking organisations and experts specialising in the field of media development cooperation. FoME organises international symposiums, edits publications and maintains a expert discussion group. Institutional members are the Deutsche Welle Akademie, Deutsche Welle Global Media Forum, Friedrich-Ebert-Foundation, International Institute for Journalism IJ of InWEnt, Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung, MICT, Protestant Academy of the Rhineland, Zurich University of Applied Sciences Winterthur, and CAMECO.
